Fire Hazard Added Now To Swollen Mississippi

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP)—A 107,000-gallon oil tank added an awesome fire hazard today to the woes of La Crosse, braced for the record crest sweeping down the Mississippi River valley.

God, can you imagine fire moving along on this crest," said a police officer assigned to the emergency guard over the tank farm where a total of 15,000,000 gallons of gasoline are stored.

A 75-foot rupture in a protecting dike opened eight feet of water over the tank area Monday, and Fire Chief Fred Genz, Sr. said the "potential danger" increased with the exposure of the tanks to flood debris.

While the self-sealing tanks are not leaking, the water around them is coated by an oil slick from a nearby auto junk yard.

The Mississippi climbed to 11.4 feet, more than five feet over flood stage at La Crosse, as it swept downstream.

At Winona, Minn., about 25 miles to the north, nearly 1,000 persons left their homes in an orderly evacuation when water began coming up through storm sewers after seeping under protective dikes.

Deep sea diving equipment was ferried across the Mississippi by National Guardsmen from Eau Claire, Wis., to Winona where volunteer divers placed an inflatable fabric bag in a manhole to seal off the flow. Two other sewers were to be plugged the same way.

The river was expected to crest today at Winona at 21.4 feet, 8.5 feet above flood level, and crest at 18 feet at La Crosse Monday.

The flooding began two weeks ago when the winter's snow began to melt. And as the crest moved south, some areas began cleaning up while others bolstered their defences.

Damage in Wisconsin and Minnesota, which have so far borne the brunt, has been estimated as high as $50,000,000 by civil defence officials. The Red Cross said that 40,000 persons have been displaced in a five-state area, and the worst is still to come in Iowa, Illinois and Missouri.

Red River Expected To Crest Later Than First Anticipated

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Red River is expected to crest later than previously forecast, Premier Duff Roblin told the legislature Monday.

The premier based his finding on a revision of peak flood predictions by the U.S. weather bureau for communities south of the Manitoba border.

The revised U.S. predictions brought crest figures in line with Manitoba's earlier estimates of a flood close to 1948 proportions in the Red River Valley in Manitoba. Provincial water control officials now are preparing a new schedule.

Meanwhile, a spokesman at flood control headquarters in Winnipeg said the Red River's level was virtually unchanged during the night. The level rose about six inches in Emerson, near the North Dakota border, and there was no "apparent" change at Morris, 30 miles south of here.

In Winnipeg, the Red remained steady at 20.8 feet above average ice level.

Mr. Roblin said a good deal of overflow water in the U.S. is in fields and this could reduce Manitoba's peaks if it drained back into the river slowly. However, he said it was too early to make a revised estimate.

Agriculture Minister Hutton said the delayed crest also had a disadvantage for Manitoba because it meant a longer period in which there could be heavy rainfall.

Light snow was forecast for the Red River Valley today.

Manitoba forecast peaks ranged from April 21 at Emerson to April 24 at Winnipeg. For Emerson and Morris, estimates remained for a flood level slightly higher than that of 1948, which means two-thirds of the population will be flooded out.

India's Split Reds Reach Agreement

CALCUTTA (AP)—Pro-Chinese and pro-Russian leaders of India's divided Communist party have agreed on joint anti-government efforts at their first formal meeting since their split a year ago. The leaders decided at a meeting Monday to co-operate in a program of anti-government demonstrations and election campaigns against candidates of Prime Minister Shastri's ruling Congress party.

Jail Beatings Under Inquiry

MONTREAL (CP)—A prison inquiry board opened an investigation today into the beating Monday night of a guard and male nurse at St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary.

The beating of the two men "appeared to be an escape attempt," said Oswald LeBlanc, assistant deputy warden of the federal training centre, which is a part of the penitentiary's medium security area.

LeBlanc said three convicts jumped the guard in a shower room, knocked him unconscious with a stick and threw him into a dormitory cell. A male nurse who tried to interfere also was beaten and locked up.

The prisoners were stopped by other guards as they descended a stairway to a lower level of the prison.

DOG CATCHER EARNS HIS AWARD FOR MERIT

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto dogcatcher has won a merit award for saving a dog's life with mouth-to-mouth respiration, but he can't understand what all the fuss is about.

"I was only doing my job as an animal control officer," said Walter Patey, 40.

The Ontario Humane Society thinks differently. His award, to be presented at a

U.S. Casualties Pushed Higher

SAIGON (CP)—The loss of a U.S. Navy Skyraider over North Viet Nam and the explosion of a terrorist bomb today pushed the American casualty toll in the Viet Nam war higher as officials investigated a possible Communist attempt to capture Premier Phan Huy Quat.

A U.S. 7th Fleet spokesman said the Skyraider pilot was killed today when his propeller-driven aircraft crashed while making a pass over a group of trucks along Highway 1, about 50 miles north of the border.

Seventeen South Vietnamese were killed, 38 wounded and four American servicemen injured when a Communist Viet Cong bomb ripped through a car at Ban Me Thuot, about 160 miles northeast of Saigon, Monday night.

The Viet Cong killed an American civilian and several South Vietnamese in an ambush of a construction crew on the Buon Hoa Highway just north of Saigon Monday night. He was an employee of the Hydro-technique Corporation, a private firm hired by the U.S. and mission to install a new water line into the capital.

American and South Vietnamese planes continued their strikes against targets in North Viet Nam today, hitting bridges and roads in three separate raids.

MONK IMMOLATES SELF

In Saigon, a 16-year-old novice Buddhist monk burned himself to death today at the Buddhist head quarters. A spokesman said the young monk offered his life as a sacrifice for the suffering South Vietnamese people.

A Buddhist spokesman said the youth, Thua Giac Huan, from the Binh Duong province in central South Viet Nam, poured gasoline on himself and then lit it.

Air force authorities were investigating a suspected plane sabotage act which could have led to Premier Quat's capture by the Communists.

Informed sources said Quat's C-47 plane mysteriously developed trouble in both engines soon after taking off from Buon Hoa Air Base near Saigon last Saturday.

The pilot was able to return to the base and landed on one engine. If the plane had been forced to come down it would have landed in an area controlled by the Viet Cong.

Castro Fears Retribution If Reds Defeat U.S. In Asia

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro said Monday night if the United States is defeated in Viet Nam, he might try to make us pay for it.

The Cuban premier said his government is stepping up its defence preparations to meet any surprise American attack.

"We are trying to defend best our weapons," Castro said. "We are becoming experts in camouflage."

He apparently meant Cuba is taking measures to defend its radar installations, airports and other vital establishments, such as those being bombed in North Viet Nam.

In a speech celebrating his victory in the Bay of Pigs invasion four years ago, Castro said the U.S. is "violating international agreements by crossing the border and attacking North Viet Nam."

Their planes are cynically bombarding with chemical products the villages and regions liberated by Vietnamese patriots."

He taunted the U.S. for the failure of the invasion within 72 hours of the April 17, 1961, landing.

"April 19 marked the day on which the plans mapped by the pseudo-generals of the Pentagon and by the luminaries of the Central Intelligence Agency went down in a matter of hours."

"Kennedy was criticized for not providing air support. If they (the planes) had intervened, they could not have supported anyone, because there would have been no mercenaries left to support."

Teachers Strike Arm "Vital" B.C. Federation Meeting Told

VANCOUVER (CP)—Teachers cannot properly bargain for higher pay unless they have the strike weapon, one of their number told the B.C. Teachers Federation Monday.

"We could picket the department of education or lie down in the streets, but we will not get true negotiations until we have the right to strike," said Joe Warnock.

He spoke during debate on the thorniest issue facing the 1,200 delegates attending the federation's 46th annual convention.

The profession is generally dissatisfied with provisions of the Public Schools Act that stipulate three steps in salary matters: negotiation, then consultation, and if agreement still is not reached, binding arbitration.

The convention nevertheless defeated a resolution from the Abbotsford Teachers' Association calling for negotiation of a single provincial salary scale.

Malcolm Dean of Abbotsford said arbitration "intended as a last resort—is becoming the general rule."

A number of delegates stood by the official federation policy insisting salary bargaining continue on a local level.

The federation's executive committee said the B.C. School Trustees' Association persuaded many school boards to bargain through paid negotiation and with few exceptions "these people made no serious effort to bring about agreement."

Warm Welcome Given Moro During Visit To White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—Premier Aldo Moro of Italy received a warm welcome from President Johnson today as he arrived at the White House.

Mrs. Johnson joined the president in greeting the premier, who was received with full military honors.

A 19-gun salute was fired as Moro arrived after a short drive from the presidential guest house.

Moro's visit originally was scheduled for last July, but internal Italian political problems caused a postponement.

With no major decisions to be made, the talks are designed mainly for American and Italian officials to get to know each other better.

THIRSTY PONY DOWNS SQUIRE

MARKET BOSWORTH, England (Reuters)—A country squire and a chestnut pony, both with the name Dixie, met in a beer-drinking contest here Monday. The pony won.

Sir Wulstan Dixie, holder of a 200-year-old baronetcy, challenged the pony to the contest after seeing him drink beer on television.

Standing on a box at an Easter fete in the park of his country mansion, Sir Wulstan 55 downed his pint of beer in about 12 seconds. Dixie, a nine-year-old pony, drank his in 6 1/2 seconds.

Ultimatum Handed Johnson On Escalation Of Fighting

TOKYO (AP)—China called today for "full preparations" to send Chinese troops into the Vietnamese war if the United States escalates the fighting and the Vietnamese people call for help.

A Peking broadcast said the standing committee of the National Peoples Congress (parliament) ordered the preparations in the form of a resolution adopted unanimously this afternoon.

In the name of the 450,000 Chinese people, the resolution said, "the standing committee of the National Peoples Congress of China today solemnly passed a resolution calling on the People's organizations and their people throughout China to make full preparations to send their own people to fight together with the Vietnamese people and drive out the U.S. aggressors in the event that U.S. imperialism continues to escalate its war of aggression and the Vietnamese people need them."

The legislative body is empowered to decide on the proclamation of a state of war.

The Chinese government and the Chinese people have solemnly declared that aggression by U.S. imperialism against the Democratic Republic of North Viet Nam means aggression against China.

"The Chinese people have always been infinitely loyal in fulfilling their internationalist obligations. They always mean what they say. Both past and present struggles testify to this."

In the fall of 1950 China sent "volunteers" into the Korean War.

The Chinese expressed support for North Vietnamese appeal which called among other things, for a halt in U.S. air strikes on North Viet Nam and the withdrawal of U.S. forces from South Viet Nam.

"We maintain that the necessary conditions for a political settlement of the Viet Nam problem can be created only by forcing the United States to withdraw all its armed forces from Viet Nam," the resolution said.

Envoy Brings Peace Hopes

KUALA LUMPUR (Reuters)—Hopes of a peaceful settlement in the under-100 year war between Indonesia and the Malaysian federal rose today with the arrival of Shojiro Kawashima, special Japanese peace envoy.

Kawashima arrived from Jakarta after talks with President Sukarno of Indonesia, who has vowed to "crush" Malaysia.

Kawashima met Malaysian Premier Tunku Abdul Rahman at Rahman's official residence three hours after his arrival.

He also planned to see Deputy Premier Tun Abdul Razak during his two-day visit, aimed at exploring possibilities of a settlement.

Razak said earlier today Malaysia was ready to use Afro-Asian troops for the active defence of its borders against Indonesian guerrillas.

Razak spoke in a government television interview on his recent support-seeking tour to 13 Asian and African countries.

France May Cut SEATO Links To Avert Viet Involvement

PARIS (Reuters)—France may shortly sever its ties with the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization — the eight-nation Western defence pact in the Far East, reliable sources said in Paris today.

As a first step Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville will not attend the annual SEATO ministerial conference in London which begins a three-day session May 3.

France has told the SEATO secretariat in Bangkok it intends to downgrade its delegation to the London conference to observer status, reliable sources said.

The French decision is said here to reflect President de Gaulle's desire to dissociate France step by step from any commitment in a possible war in Viet Nam.

Nearly two years ago de Gaulle expressed his fear the United States might get into a real war in Viet Nam. Since then France has backed a policy of neutralization for South Viet Nam.

France's recognition of Communist China a year ago was a major step toward an independent French policy in Asia. Officials here say France's diplomacy now would leave it free to remain neutral in the event of a war between the United States and China.

At the last SEATO conference in Manila a year ago, France clashed with the other SEATO members — the United States, Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Pakistan, the Philippines and Thailand — over the Viet Nam issue.

Train Wrecking Bid By Boys, 11

LONDON (AP)—Two 11-year-old boys were found guilty today of trying to derail a suburban passenger train. A juvenile court committed them for psychiatric study.

One of them, warned by the court chairman to wipe a smirk off his face on coming into the court, was asked if he had really wanted to cause an accident "where people could have been killed or crippled for life."

He said yes. He expressed no regret, as did his pal.

The moleman of the train testified that he rounded a bend and saw an obstruction on the line. Although he applied the emergency brakes, the train hit the collection-of-junk-at-about 40 miles an hour. He said it was sheer luck the train was not derailed.

Spears took his own life shortly after 1 a.m. when he was tracked down by Cloverdale police dog Prince. The event ended a nine day search.

U.S. Not Matured Yet In Foreign Affairs

The American news magazine "U.S. News and World Report" in its issue of April 19th carried the following small item:

"Lester Pearson, Canadian prime minister, is in what amounts to a White House 'doghouse' for coming to the U.S. and sounding off on what the U.S. should do in Viet Nam. The prime minister came to understand that the U.S. does not meddle in the affairs of other nations and doesn't want interference in its affairs."

This same note has been struck by other publications, columnists and commentators.

There are two areas in which Canadians must disagree with the comment made by "U.S. News."

One of them is that delightful phrase "the U.S. does not meddle in the affairs of other nations." Just how absurd can our American friends get? Their country is involved in the affairs of half the countries of the world. In Viet Nam, itself, for instance. Go down the list of countries from A to Z and the United States is involved in some degree in every country not in the Communist bloc.

And certainly in Canada. Indeed, there have been many times when the United States has said to this country — diplomatically of course, but nevertheless pointedly — "Do this," or "Don't do this."

The first Gordon budget was jettisoned because of the adverse reaction in the United States. Oh, yes, the U.S.

does indeed "meddle in the affairs of other nations."

The other area of disagreement is the phrase, "the U.S. doesn't want interference in its affairs."

This attitude suggests that the U.S. conveniently at times forgets that it is the leader of the western world and that what it does affects other nations. What it does is indeed not U.S. affairs but the affairs of every nation outside the Communist bloc. This applies especially to foreign affairs.

Such as Viet Nam.

Prime Minister Pearson in his Philadelphia speech was trying to be helpful. He was not meddling. You do not "meddle" when the affair is of vital concern to yourself. And Viet Nam is of vital concern to Canada, Britain, Europe and indeed the rest of the world.

Our American friends — and we love them — have not yet grown accustomed to world leadership and all it involves, the headaches as well as the kudos. They are still somewhat immature in world politics and are rather touchy.

This perhaps is understandable, but, dear, dear, we wish they would not be so naive as to suggest that they do not meddle in the affairs of other nations and that they themselves are so omnipotent and all-wise that they should not be criticized or even given suggestions — or help.

Such a gauche attitude just embarrasses their friends.

Penticton And The Vote

The whole Okanagan, not unnaturally, has been interestingly waiting for some reaction from Penticton on the college vote of April 10. On Tuesday the Penticton Herald carried the following editorial:

A plebiscite is a device used in a democracy to obtain an expression of public opinion before the determination of policy. In order for a plebiscite vote to be an effective one, the voters must be sufficiently well-informed to vote intelligently for or against the question, and they must turn out to vote in sufficient numbers to give a fair expression of the popular will.

Saturday's regional college plebiscite vote overwhelmingly rejected the appeal of the trustees of School District 15 for permission to proceed in the college scheme. And it was a fair vote in terms of numbers. Just about every resident of the school district who was qualified to vote signified his choice on the ballot. It was no "hard core" protest vote. It was an equitable tapping of district opinion. For politicians this indicates that the voters knew what they were doing.

During the last few days of the campaign there was a spirited controversy over the regional college issue. The core of the issue, as The Herald pointed out then, was not "higher education" but a method of achieving a certain kind of higher education facility in this Valley. Among intelligent, mature citizens the end was never seriously in question; it was the means that proved hard to swallow.

Some tempers were frayed and some friendships strained during those days and over the weekend, not only within School District 15 but elsewhere in the Valley as well. In some quarters of Kelowna, Pentictonites are even now being castigated as pariahs, as boat-rockers, as flaunters of sour grapes, as obstructionists, as mavericks. It is even said that they are "against higher education," perhaps the non sequitur of the year.

There is strong evidence that School District 15 residents were far better informed in depth than those of other districts about the central issues involved in the regional college scheme as it was presented by the Okanagan Regional College Committee and opposed by a powerful group of Penticton organizations.

There was a choice to be made here. It was not a simple matter of "jumping on a bandwagon" hitched to "authority." In several other Okanagan school districts it would appear that most voters only heard one side of the issue. The bandwagon was ensured in advance.

Be that as it may, we now suggest that respect is due the citizens of School District 15 who turned down the plebiscite, and the organizations who advised them to do so, if the techniques of democracy have any validity in the Okanagan. The matter's settled. Life goes on.

CANADA

Now South Africa Involved With Own Dispute On Flag

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — A political row involving the Union Jack has broken out in South Africa.

The flag issue threatens to split the white section of the nation, which is divided into two distinct language groups—English and Afrikaans—each with its own cultural and national backgrounds.

Bill Trollop, son of a ruling Nationalist Party cabinet minister, sparked off the uproar when he told a political meeting the "miserable" Union Jack should be "ripped out" of the present South African flag. A small Union Jack forms part of the crest of the national flag.

Trollop later supported his campaign for a change in the design of the South African flag by emphasizing that Canada now has a new flag without inclusion of the Union Jack.

His outburst was prompted by a report in an English-language magazine describing Premier Hendrik Verwoerd, Nationalist Party leader, as "an arrogant fanatic" and "the disciple of Hitler."

PARTY EMBARRASSED
The flag issue has embarrassed the Nationalist Party, which is vote-hunting among the country's English-speaking people. Until recently the ruling party had been supported mainly by Afrikaans-speaking people of Boer descent.

The opposition United Party, which has the support of many English-speaking voters, is playing up the flag issue.

Enlarging on his remarks, Trollop told Johannesburg's independent Sunday Chronicle:

"My point is that I am in favor of some symbolic representation in the South African flag which reflects the contribution the English-speaking people have made to this country. But I feel that the representation of the Union Jack is not acceptable to a large number of English-speaking people because of the present political climate."

Trollop said while he was himself English-speaking and regarded England as his second home, "the actions and utterances of British political leaders, embassies and that sort of thing caused resentment here."

PROTEST POLICIES

He was referring mainly to Britain's embargo on arms and ammunition to South Africa, imposed to protest South Africa's race segregation policies.

Trollop advocated for the South African flag "symbols which are acceptable to all groups and which are as innocuous as possible." He indicated he would not object to inclusion of the British lion, which is part of South Africa's national coat of arms.

One newspaper has suggested for a new flag a golden springbok, the bush always associated overseas with South Africa, on a green background, which it believes would "symbolize better than anything else the true and best spirit of South Africa."

Trollop said his comments were his purely personal views.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Wrong Target For Diagnosis

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner:

I would like information on an uncommon ailment. My doctor says I have arthritis of the eye. What are the symptoms and treatment? Can it be cured? Can it impair vision or cause blindness?—F.D.J.

Are you sure, sir, that you haven't got your "axis" mixed up?

Arthritis is stiffness, pain or deformity of a joint. An eye condition which sounds similar is iritis, inflammation of the iris or colored membrane of the eye surrounding the pupil.

It is true (although not common) that rheumatoid arthritis as well as other collagen diseases can sometimes cause inflammation of the eye as a complication but we can't call it "arthritis of the eye" except by resorting to poetic license.

Anyway, there are many disorders and infections of the iris, from that and other causes. They produce pain, excessive flow of tears, and disturbance of vision.

Whether vision is impaired or even destroyed depends on the precise type of ailment, and depends even more on whether the ailment is treated or neglected. Since iritis may be related to infection elsewhere in the body, underlying causes should be corrected.

Antibiotics are frequently used, but for specialized cases, other treatments may be required. I refer you to your eye doctor. Most iritis responds well to treatment.

Dear Sir: Would you answer these questions about the bartholin glands:

1—Is any antibiotic effective for bartholinitis?

2—If the glands are infected, wouldn't they enlarge? They were very much enlarged before being drained, but not since.

3—If there is infection, would there be a discharge that would be irritating?

4—What can be done for an alkaline condition in the vaginal area? Acid douches, etc., have not helped much. Soap is irritating—MRS. A. D.

1—Usually one or more of the antibiotics will be effective, but it is usual to drain the glands, too, as was done in your case.

2 and 3—So long as they remain open and draining, you would not expect enlargement. Any drainage would be washed away by natural secretions or by washing, and this constantly would avert risk of irritation.

4—There are numerous medicated douches. Rely on what your doctor suggests. However, douching is not going to do much good for an infected bartholin gland. These glands are situated at the outlet, not in the area that a douche would reach. Sitting in a hot bath would be more effective, both for soothing effect and for cleaning.

OTTAWA REPORT

Church Paper A Brainwasher

By PATRICK NICHOLSON
Daily Courier Ottawa Bureau

The latest plea for the abolition of capital punishment comes in the current issue of "The United Church Observer."

In its April 1 edition, it announces that "For the past month The Observer has polled the 262 MPs asking where they stand." There are in fact 265 MPs; can it be that this organ of the United Church, which admits to its "typical WASP (white Anglo-Saxon Protestant) fashion," does not recognize the two MPs who are Hebrew, and the one who proclaimed himself an agnostic?

Be that as it may, the 262 MPs polled total up this way: 59 say they are in favor of abolition, 49 would retain the present death penalty, 33 make no comment and 25 say they are undecided. Presumably the balance of 94 did not reply.

These totals prompt the voice of the United Church to declaim editorially: "There is a convinced number, not far from a majority, who are definitely for abolition of capital punishment." To declare 59 out of 265 MPs as being not far from a majority is elastic arithmetic. I hope the good pastors—if pastors they be—who edit The Observer are stronger in theology than they are in mathematics.

Much more serious than its phony arithmetic is the manifestation of a respected church, with a large following across Canada, permitting itself to indulge in what impresses me as being close to the diabolical and unbecoming Madison Avenue type of brainwashing.

The implication of the Observer's writing is that abolition is a bandwagon which all MPs should ride, and that MPs who would vote to retain capital punishment for convicted murderers are moronic and specifically irresponsible.

If all MPs vote on this issue as the majority of their constituents wish, the latest public opinion polls make it abundantly obvious that a huge majority of MPs would vote to retain capital punishment for convicted murderers. The abolitionists do not want MPs to echo the majority wish of electors across Canada.

The small number of definite replies to the Observer's poll can be attributed to the very proper reaction of responsible MPs: they do not propose to announce now their voting intention on an as yet unpublished bill at some as yet unspecified date. To do otherwise would damn themselves as performing seals, admitting that they will be influenced neither by the text of the bill nor by arguments advanced in the debate. "Don't confuse me with facts; my mind is made up" could be the motto of those seals who do perform.

THOU SHALT NOT KILL

The sixth commandment gives the specific order: "Thou shalt do no murder." This is implicit in the constitution of the U.S.A., which proclaims—and this applies equally to Canada—that certain truths are self-evident; that all men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights—that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness—and that governments are instituted among men to secure these rights.

So one of the prime functions of our government is to secure the right of each individual Canadian to life; to protect us against murder, for instance.

Our recent governments have not carried out this basic obligation very successfully. Just 10 years ago, in 1955, 118 Canadians were known to have been murdered; today that rate is nearly double—217 murdered in 1962, 215 in 1963. MPs are not heartless when they urge that the government should first act to suppress crime and protect Canadians. When that has been achieved, those same MPs might be willing to consider alternative effective punishments—deterrents—but certainly not before.

Foyers Can Say 'Welcome' In New Entrancing Ways

Is the foyer in your home as beautiful and welcoming as it should be? If not, it's time to give it a makeover. A foyer is the first impression you make on your guests, so it's important to make it count. There are many ways to make your foyer more welcoming, from simple changes like a new rug or a new plant to more dramatic changes like a new fireplace or a new wall. The key is to make your foyer a place where your guests feel welcome and at home.

Time Saver

If the salad calls for a mayonnaise dressing, mix it half and half with whipped cream. It makes it much lighter and creamier. For fruit salads a little maraschino cherry juice adds a touch of color and a bit of extra flavor.

Hot Salad

Chicken salad, the perennial favorite, gets a new twist when served hot. Just turn your very best salad mixture, dressing and all, into a pretty casserole dish and bake in a 350° oven, 25 minutes. Sprinkle with a cup of shredded Canadian Cheddar cheese and return to the oven until the cheese melts.

Sweet Treat

Chocolate bonbons disappear from the candy dish magically. The smooth creamy centers are made by melting a 6-ounce package of semi-sweet chocolate pieces over boiling water. Then stir in a small can of evaporated milk, and cook over boiling water, stirring frequently, about 30 minutes. The mixture should be very thick. Chill thoroughly, so the chocolate is easy to handle, shape into small balls and roll in coconut.

Salad Switch

Prefer salads to sandwiches? The dressing "makes" the salad in most cases, and dairy sour cream "makes" the dressing for a variety of salads. Sweeten it with a little honey and add some finely chopped preserved ginger and chopped pecans for crunch... perfect for chicken or fruit salads.

Forecast... Showers

Happily, the April showers we welcome this month are those that are designed to make the bride-to-be... occasions frequently calling for fancy little sandwiches. A dash of dry mustard, a sprinkle of celery salt, garlic salt, caraway seeds or celery seeds creamed into the butter does wonders to perk up the flavor of those dainty sandwiches.

Forthcoming Convention Planned At Kelowna Branch SPCA Meet

At the regular meeting of the Kelowna Branch SPCA the main subject of discussion was the forthcoming convention of Okanagan Valley Branches SPCA which will be held in Tualing's Restaurant, Kelowna, on Sunday, May 16, commencing at 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. Muriel Ffoulkes is in charge of the afternoon program which will be of a social nature. Posters submitted by students of the Kelowna school district in the recent 'Humane Poster' contest will be on display and Miss Barbara Blyth of the Regional Library Staff will have a display of available library books of interest to animal lovers and will give a short discourse on the display.

It is hoped there will be good representation from all branches in the Valley as Mr. Beeching, executive director of the B.C. SPCA will be present to answer questions and chat with the guests.

This meeting is not confined to members only but is open to anyone interested in animal welfare work. There will be a small charge for refreshments.

Miss Helen Sturrock, who has been treasurer for the society for many years, wished to be relieved of the office and John Terndrup kindly agreed to act as treasurer for the balance of the year. The thanks of the society were expressed to Miss Sturrock by the meeting.

Miss Joan Hamilton, as delegate from the Kelowna Branch, will attend the general meeting and the directors' meeting of the B.C. SPCA which will be held in Vancouver on April 23-24.

Humfrey Brooke, secretary of the Royal Academy, said it was "probably the first royal portrait since Landseer painted the young Queen Victoria in 1838." But he added, "The public won't like it. It's not photographic."

"I think it's awful," said Mrs. Muriel Jordan, 55, a filing station attendant. "The Queen looks knocked out. If I were her, I'd be furious. I'd have Greenham beat."

"I like it," said art student Lorette Sampson. "Greenham has given the Queen a softness that other artists have missed."

Greenham is a controversial painter. In 1961, officers of the Middlesex Regiment commissioned him to do a portrait of Lt. Gen. Sir Brian Horrocks. When they saw it, they demanded the artist make alterations.

One army critic said Greenham made Sir Brian look like an evil old cardinal.

ANN LANDERS

If Boy Is Not Crazy He Is A Show Off!

Dear Ann Landers: Several weeks ago the greatest kid I have ever known came by in his convertible to pick me up. I should tell you we live in Winnetka, which is a suburb of Chicago. It was freezing weather and Jamie had the top of his convertible down. I wouldn't say it was snowing, but a few flakes were flying.

When my mother looked out the window she screamed, "You are not going any place with that imbecile! He is crazy!"

I tried to explain that Jamie is a member of the Polar Bear Club and the club was going to take a dip in Lake Michigan. He was not naked. He was wearing his swimming trunks. I also tried to explain that some of us girls were going along just to watch but we were not going to the water.

My mother walked out on the porch and shouted, "Put on a shirt or Mary Alice is not coming out!"

With that Jamie pulled away and I haven't seen him since. I am heartick. My mother says he is crazy. Please print my letter and your answer so our whole family can see it. My dad is on her side.

Dear M.A.: If Jamie is not crazy, he is such a show-off that he may be a borderline case.

Polar Bears for anyone who wants to take a dip in Lake Michigan in freezing weather are not necessarily nuts. In the Scandinavian countries this is quite a sport. But, for a kid to drive a convertible around Chicago in freezing weather with the top down and wearing swimming trunks—well, like said if he's not crazy, he's close.

Dear Ann Landers: I am nearly 50 years of age and share a home with my widowed mother. The problem may not seem important but I must get this off my chest.

My older sister comes to visit mother at least five times a week. She always stays too long. They can yak for three hours about nothing at all. But the thing I am writing about is a habit which drives me insane. Just when you think the sentence is finished they say "And"—and that's the start of another sentence.

Since this house is half mine do I have the right to tell my sister she must telephone before she comes so I can be elsewhere? If I listen to any more "And's" I'll have to be carried off. Thank you—H.H.I.

Dear S.B.I.: If you are nearly 30 and your sister is older, then your mother must be in her seven years. We have two sons in Poland but he was born in the U.S. Whenever he has to fill out a form and he comes to the word "Nationality" he puts down "Polish."

Our two sons were born in Cleveland. He says they are Polish, too, because the children always take the nationality of their father. I have tried to tell him he is wrong about the boys but he says I don't know what I'm talking about.

He thinks you are a smart woman. Maybe if you tell him he will believe it. Please help me straighten this out before the kids go to school—GRATEFUL.

Dear F. Grateful: Nationality means "the nation of your birth." Your sons are American—and so is your husband.

Confidential to DON'T KNOW WHAT TO BELIEVE: In the absence of better proof that you've been able to produce in your letter, I hope you will believe she is telling the truth. A woman doesn't have to run after a man to catch him—for precisely the same reason a trap doesn't have to run after a bear.

Dear Ann Landers: I am nearly 50 years of age and share a home with my widowed mother. The problem may not seem important but I must get this off my chest.

My older sister comes to visit mother at least five times a week. She always stays too long. They can yak for three hours about nothing at all. But the thing I am writing about is a habit which drives me insane. Just when you think the sentence is finished they say "And"—and that's the start of another sentence.

Since this house is half mine do I have the right to tell my sister she must telephone before she comes so I can be elsewhere? If I listen to any more "And's" I'll have to be carried off. Thank you—H.H.I.

Dear S.B.I.: If you are nearly 30 and your sister is older, then your mother must be in her seven years. We have two sons in Poland but he was born in the U.S. Whenever he has to fill out a form and he comes to the word "Nationality" he puts down "Polish."

Our two sons were born in Cleveland. He says they are Polish, too, because the children always take the nationality of their father. I have tried to tell him he is wrong about the boys but he says I don't know what I'm talking about.

He thinks you are a smart woman. Maybe if you tell him he will believe it. Please help me straighten this out before the kids go to school—GRATEFUL.

Too old to buy insurance?

Being over 65 is no barrier to the purchase of new life insurance. And for many people in their sixties or seventies it can be a very wise "buy."

Here's an example. A man age 75 has a substantial number of investments. At death, estate taxes will have to be paid. To raise the cash, income-producing assets have to be sold, often with severe losses to the beneficiaries. Life insurance can prevent this loss by providing the necessary cash.

Manufacturers Life has a sound reputation for its liberal approach to insuring older people for the purpose of estate conservation or for guaranteeing the continuity of a business. Our representatives are qualified to provide competent counsel to help our senior citizens meet these special needs.

Leadoff Single Foils No-Hitter

By MURRAY CHAMBERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Add Denis Menke to Jim Maloney's collection of hoodlums, which already includes Ellis Burton and Joe Christopher. Menke got the only hit—a leadoff single in the eighth inning—off Maloney in Cincinnati's 2-0 triumph over Milwaukee Braves Monday.

The one-hitter was the third for the Red's 24-year-old right-hander in the three seasons. It also got him back into the regular pitching rotation.

In his first two one-hitters, Maloney was the victim of early angles. Burton got one for Chicago Cubs as the second batter of the game July 23 1963. Christopher singled for New York Mets with one out in the second inning last Sept. 25.

The 1964 performance came in Maloney's best-to-last start, giving him two one-hitters in his last three appearances. He sat out the first week of this season because he hadn't convinced manager Dick Sisler he belonged in the front line.

In spring exhibition games, Maloney had a miserable 8.00 earned-run average in 30 innings.

Gentile's Towering Home-Run Shot Leads KC's 8-2 Drubbing Of Yanks

By MIKE RATHY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Gentile, who used to put his foot in his mouth, now leaves it in the batter's box. He's better that way.

Gentile, 30, the slugging Kansas City first baseman, revealed his change of stance Monday night after belting his third homer of the season and lifting his batting average to .412 as the Athletics walloped New York Yankees 8-2.

The left-handed swinger was benched when the season started after he asked to be traded because of what he termed unfair publicity given a spring training incident that cost him a $500 fine.

But the outspoken Gentile has changed his mind.

"I decided the only way to get back in their good graces was to keep my mouth shut and just meet the ball," he said.

"Always in the past I'd get sore at myself and keep myself in a slump," he continued. "I could control it a few games, then it would get the best of me. I've been playing 15 years now and it's about time I learned to forget the strikeouts."

And so Gentile, who has never been able to match the 41 homers and 141 runs batted in he produced at Baltimore in 1961, has curbed his temper and cuffed the batter for seven hits in 17 trips while becoming the first player in the American League to hit three homers.

He wound up his shelling of the Yankees 5-for-11 with all three homers in the three-game set—by collecting a single and a towering homer off Whitey

Ford that hit 65 feet high on the scoreboard, which is 422 feet from home plate.

Canadian Stops Neilsen In 8th

TORONTO (CP) — George Chuvpilo of Toronto, who feels he is "ready for anybody in the world," needed almost eight full rounds to dispose of out-of-shape Bill Neilsen of Omaha, Neb., Monday night.

The scheduled 10-round bout, before a small crowd of 5,980, was stopped at 3:41 of the eighth when referee Jackie Silver ruled that Neilsen, 39, was in no condition to continue.

While leading throughout the match, Chuvpilo, 27, the Canadian heavyweight champ, was unable to put his unranked opponent on the canvas.

"He's a rugged, tough guy," said Chuvpilo, listed No. 5 by the World Boxing Association. "But I had no trouble with him."

Ahearne Fears Cold Shoulder To Bid For Hockey TV Rights

LONDON (CP) — John F. Ahearne, Britain's leading hockey figure, said today he has applied for European television rights to National Hockey League games but that initial NHL reaction has been cool.

Ahearne, president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, said he expects to reply to a letter from the NHL's television committee perhaps Tuesday and "the matter is not yet closed."

"It could be a pretty big thing if it went through," Ahearne said in a telephone interview, adding at one point that prospects did not look good. His "attitude" to the NHL had been questioned, he said.

There have been times when the interests of the IIHF and the NHL clashed, said Ahearne, and this could be the reason for the professional league's cool reaction.

An IIHF meeting last May decided that any European ice stadium permitting the performance of professional hockey players would be barred from staging any IIHF amateur games.

The Ahearne TV plan envisaged that the NHL would take a percentage of the proceeds from European showings.

Games in Canada and the United States could possibly be relayed across the Atlantic by communications satellite, or else rebroadcast in Europe from film or video tape.

Victory Eludes 'Clumsy' Bears

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Denver Bears got a little careless Monday night and the visiting Arkansas Travelers recorded a 7-6 victory, their first in the three-day-old Pacific Coast League baseball season.

Denver's centre fielder Luke Vassers was charged with the most costly lapse when Larry Clayton drove a hit by him with the bases loaded in the top of the ninth, and three Travelers traveled home.

San Diego, the only other undefeated outfit in the 12-team league, fought 11 innings before losing to Salt Lake City 3-2.

Joe Hoerner was brought in to pitch in the last half of the ninth inning and saved a 3-2 victory for Oklahoma City over Indianapolis.

In the only Western Division action, Tacoma right-hander Bill Hands blanked Hawaii 6-0. Rain forced postponement of a Spokane-Vancouver game. Seattle and Portland were not scheduled.

East, West Share Bowling Honors

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — Toronto York West made a dramatic comeback in the final game to take the lead in one division and trail by only four pins in the other in the first day of the Canadian five-pin bowling championships here Monday.

In the men's division, York West leads North Surrey, B.C., with 6,082 in 6,047 after entering the fifth game trailing by 114 pins.

Vancouver leads the mixed event, 5,361 to York West's 5,357. The Eastern team was behind 199 pins after four games in that event.

Oil Kings Bring-In Another Gusher

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Oil Kings advanced to their sixth consecutive junior hockey final with a 4-2 victory over Regina Pats Monday night before 6,505 fans.

The victory, on four unanswered goals in the final period, gave Edmonton the best-of-seven western Memorial Cup semi-final 4-3.

Ron Anderson paced Oil Kings with a pair of goals. Ted Rogers, Ross Perkins, Brian Hague and Brian Bennett added the others.

Fran Huck, in a great individual effort to keep his club in the game, got both Regina goals, his 14th and 15th of the series. Together with six assists he finished with 21 points, and is certain to be recruited for the second year in a row if Oil Kings move into the national finals.

The western final opens Wednesday in Edmonton with Oil Kings meeting Winnipeg Braves.

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia (CP) — China swept both the men's and women's team titles Monday night in the world table tennis championships.

Injury-Riddled Hawks Bolstered For Second Tilt

MONTREAL (CP) — While

coach Billy Reay checked his mounting injury list and stars Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita were being hounded for autographs by a horde of hockey-minded youngsters, a well-dressed young man emerged unnoticed from Chicago Black Hawks dressing room.

The Hawks had just completed their final workout Monday afternoon in preparation for tonight's second game of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup final. They trail Montreal Canadiens 1-0 after the Habs squeezed by them 3-2 in Saturday night's opener.

One year ago, Doug Jarrett, a 20-year-old native of London, Ont., was performing in the Ontario Hockey Association as a junior for St. Catharines Black Hawks.

Now, a year later, he finds himself called on to replace two-time Norris Trophy winner Pierre Pilote at the blue-line in a Stanley Cup final.

Pilote is suffering a shoulder injury and remains a doubtful starter in tonight's game. However, Reay, plagued by injuries to three key players, called for help from another source Monday.

RED HAY
... latest casualty

He strengthened his blue-line brigade by the addition of John Mizsuk and Don Johns. He also has centre Gerry Mearns and left-winger John Stanfield ready for tonight. All four are from Buffalo Braves of the American League. John Stanfield is an older brother of the Hawks' rookie centre, Fred.

Mearns has two full NHL seasons behind him, while Mizsuk and Johns have limited experience in the big league.

Joining Pilote and right-winger Kenney Wharram on the injured and doubtful-starter list is Bill (Red) Hay. He came up with an injured left elbow Monday and had x-rays taken, but results were not conclusive. It will be near game time before general manager Tommy Ives and Reay decide whether he can start.

Wharram is nursing a sore knee, but likely will answer the opening whistle.

Commenting on Hay's injury, Reay said he didn't know about the ailment until Sunday night and "we believe there's a chipped bone in the elbow."

Wharram should be able to play, but Pilote is very doubtful, Reay added.

He indicated Mizsuk could see some action if Pilote remains on the sidelines and John Stanfield probably would join brother Fred's line on left-wing in place of Hay.

"You'll notice I said 'probably," because things may change by game time," Reay said.

We make this move quickly... this slowly

A lot of big outboards give you the impression the gas gauge is trying to keep up with the speedometer. Not so Johnson's 90. It has a 4-barrel carburetor that meters fuel so efficiently, it uses no more gas than outboards with 18% less horsepower... and far less fuel than outboards in the same general or greater power range. And like all Johnson's, the 90 has a 50:1 gas-oil ratio that cuts oil costs in half.

And Johnson's proven V-4 engine is as long on stamina as it is on performance and so quiet you never need raise your voice.

To top it off, the 90 hp. has Johnson's automatic electric clutch as standard equipment. This single-lever control gives a smooth, hair-trigger responsiveness that's unbeatable.

See the Johnson 90 soon. You'll find it alongside the great V-75 and new 60 hp., two more powerful Sea-Horse values. Each, of course, features Johnson's extra-long two year warranty.

15 models in ten hp. sizes: 90, 75, 60, 40, 33, 18, 9 1/2, 6, 5, 3.

3 Stern Drive models: 90, 120, 150 hp.

Senator Against Proposal To Halt Viet Nam Raids

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Dirksen sided today with State Secretary Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Robert McNamara against a proposal by Senator J. W. Fulbright for a temporary suspension of U.S. bombings of North Viet Nam. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, said in an interview such a suspension might encourage the opening of peace talks.

The Arkansas Democrat said he supports President Johnson's court in Viet Nam, but added: "No one knows, if a temporary cease-fire, just to give opportunity for reflection and possibly to go to discussions as proposed by the president, might be possible. Maybe there are reasons why this is not feasible, but I'm judging from the press reports, the action of the Russians, and some of the others, that would indicate that the prospects for discussions might be enhanced by a temporary cessation of bombings."

"We don't have to make any commitments. We could resume bombing at any time there is no response. I don't see where there would be any great, very serious loss of position on our part."

Canada's Prime Minister Lester Pearson suggested in a Philadelphia speech April 1 that a pause "at the right time" in the bombing of North Viet Nam might be conducive to peace negotiations.

DIRKSEN DISAGREES
 Dirksen disagreed with Fulbright's views on a suspension of bombings. The Illinois Republican said the Communists have given no sign that they are willing to negotiate.

"If we let up on them now we will lose face, our prestige will drop and that will make it more difficult to end the conflict," he said.

In Texas where Johnson was spending Easter, White House press secretary George E. Reedy said Sunday night the president would have no comment.

SEEKS INDEPENDENCE
 But he said the United States "will finally settle for no less" than assured independence for South Viet Nam.

"Until that independence is guaranteed," the president said, "there is no human power capable of forcing us to leave South Viet Nam."

Two members of Fulbright's foreign relations committee, Senator John Sparkman (Dem., Ala.) and Senator Frank Carlson (Rep., Kan.), said Fulbright's suggestion was worth considering.

Senator Ernest Gruening (Dem., Alaska), long a foe of U.S. policies in Viet Nam, joined Fulbright in calling for a cessation of bombings and the initiation of efforts toward negotiating a cease-fire.

Stressing Saturday afternoon a treaty near the Washington Monument, Gruening called for an international peace conference on Viet Nam and said it must include representatives of the Viet Cong guerrilla forces.

The rally was sponsored by Students for a Democratic Society, an organization which earlier Saturday had sponsored the picketing of the White House by thousands in protest of U.S. policies in Viet Nam.

Rusk said the administration had tried publicly and privately to find out if this action could lead to an end of Communist aggression but there "has been no response."

After Rusk's statement, Fulbright said the secretary's view didn't change his own position. Rusk's statement, he said, came shortly after Johnson said he regretted "the necessities of war have compelled us to bomb North Viet Nam."

Guns On Indian Border Quiet But Dispute With China Stays

NEW DELHI (AP)—Though the guns are silent, China's dispute with India is moving into a new phase that is important for both countries.

The battlefront will be the African-Asian conference in Algiers in June. Peking will try to develop an anti-India campaign it started with the 1962 border war.

Pre-conference manoeuvres by Chinese diplomats indicate Peking is out to isolate India from African-Asian countries it once led, and which it must influence again if its non-aligned foreign policy is not to be consigned to the diplomatic dust bin.

India today relies for financial, military and diplomatic support on Washington, London and Moscow and Asian and African leaders who once flocked to New Delhi to sit at Jawaharlal Nehru's feet now rush to Peking, bypassing his successor, Lal Bahadur Shastri.

In Asia, India has only one friend, tiny Malaysia, and no formal allies.

This has been one of the biggest payoffs in Peking's campaign against India.

The Chinese at Algiers will have other cards to play.

Most important is the economic setbacks India has endured since the 1962 conflict got it into an immensely expensive armaments program.

SEE HUNGRY GIANT
 Asian and African leaders who once saw India's democratic socialism as a model for the underdeveloped world now see a giant less able than ever to feed itself.

Many of these leaders look hungrily at the economic progress and military power of the Chinese system.

India's problem is that its leaders feel required to allocate about one-third of the country's expenditures to defence, in an effort to build armed forces capable of meeting Chinese forces.

Compared with diplomatic and economic victories won since 1962, the territorial advantages China gained in combat are, for the most part, insignificant.

Downed Pilot Surfs Ashore

LAGUNA BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A pilot whose light plane's propeller fell off ditched the craft safely in the sea 100 yards off the crowded downtown beach, then came ashore on a surfboard.

Arthur Storm, 32, still dressed in his dripping business suit, told police he was flying Sunday from Palomar to Compton in Southern California when he said "all of a sudden there was a snap" and the propeller disappeared.

Storm guided the craft past the beach, crowded with Easter weekend bathers.

He was in the water only a minute when a nearby powerboat reached him and he climbed aboard.

But Laguna Beach doesn't have a user.

A lifeguard paddled out on his surfboard. Storm climbed aboard and glided to shore.

Alberta Teams Looking For League

CALGARY (CP) — Calgary Stars and Edmonton Nuggets two senior hockey teams that have exhibition games last winter, plan to sound out the possibility of joining an organized league, says Stars' club official Ron Butlin.

The two teams held weekend meetings in Calgary to draft their plans for next season.

In a statement released Monday, Butlin said: "We propose to have meetings with both the Saskatchewan Senior Hockey League and the Western International Hockey League during the next three weeks" to look for an organized league proposal.

Stars and Edmonton are not interested in any way in being part of the Central Alberta League.

Some Signs Progress Seen In Negro Civil Rights Fight

SELMMA, Ala. (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., says there have been signs of progress in the Negro's struggle for civil rights in Alabama, but adds: "We must make sure that noble words are implemented."

The Negro integration leader made his first visit in a month Monday to the area where he began the battle for Negro voting rights three months ago. He chimed a busy day of conferences with Negro leaders by addressing a cheering crowd of Negroes Monday night at Brown Chapel, headquarters of the civil rights drive.

The most notable sign of progress, King said, was the recent newspaper advertisement by Chambers of Commerce and other business leaders from around the state calling for law and order, fair employment opportunities and compliance with the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

"That at least represents a positive step forward," he said. "But we can't allow any developments to lull us to sleep. No longer can we live on promises. We must make sure that noble words are implemented all over Alabama and that Negroes are able to get jobs like anybody else."

On the negative side, King charged that more than 150 Negroes have been fired from their jobs in Selma for taking part in the rights movement.

"We can't take this lying down," he said. "We are going to call on our friends all over the nation to help us. We will withdraw our economic support and spend our money only where we are respected."

He promised his chanting, hymn-singing listeners that "we are in Selma and Alabama to stay until the Negro gets his freedom."
